Why Pre-Plan?

Too often, people leave funeral planning to their loved ones they leave behind. Pre-planning relieves Executors and loved ones of the responsibility of planning and managing your final arrangements. They're also relieved of the financial burden they may face if a prepayment plan is in place.

Preparing a plan in advance can be remarkably alleviating for your loved ones, as it allows you to express your final wishes to them in a meaningful and deliberate way.

The Process

Knowing where to start when planning a service can seem daunting. At Cypress we hope to ease this planning process and make all the details count. We'll give you the opportunity to weigh your service options, while covering merchandise options and the costs involved. This is when you'll be able to clarify specific details about the event, including the location, and any special ceremony requests. We'll then translate your personalized instructions into an Advanced Planning Form, which will ultimately be passed on to your family or Executor.

Once your plan is in place, it will be valid to use at any of our Cypress locations, and is transferable to any funeral home in Canada.

Pre-Paying

By paying for a plan in advance, you can relieve your family and friends from the urgent stress that typically accompanies planning arrangements. You can rest assured knowing that funds are available when needed, and feel good about leaving a considerate gesture for your loved ones.

Funeral homes often demand immediate payment following a death, however, death benefits may not be enough and can take months to be paid. Pre-paying guarantees that your family won't have to pay out of pocket, and that the necessary funds will be available to them when required.

At Cypress we offer multiple flexible payment options. These include either a one-time lump sum payment or monthly plans spread over 1 to 20 years, without added interest or financing fees. We also offer 100% refunds of your payments without penalties, depending on your chosen plan. With us, the purchaser of the pre-arrangement always retains control of the funds which are secured by our trusted insurance underwriter, Assurant Life of Canada, who offer more flexibility and control compared to traditional trust accounts.
